Daniel Osenwald, who prides him-self on being the owner of the oldest house in towo, has begun the work of razing the old structure and will put in its place a fine new one.

Ed. Sortman, who has been suffer-ing from a slight attack of typhoid fe-ver, was out of the house for the first time last Sanday,

The game of ball played at the Crea-sona Driving Park, on Saturday last, between Hamburg and Cressian, was no blooming success. The score stood 6 to 6 to favor of Hamburg, and then the game broke up in a disagreement. The cressian club did well at the be-ginning of the sesson, but somehow things haven't been going right with the boys for several weeks past.

John Newton, whose parents reside at Liewellyn and who had been suffering from the dread discuss, typicola favor, died on Saturday night. His remains were taken to his parents' home. Mr. Newton was employed on the Reading ratiroad, and was engaged to marry Miss Kate Boyer.

The Civizens' Evilting and Lon-Association is positing work with all rapidity. Three new houses are being this hed in ride, a fouring a speedify nearing the rame this, and the foundations for two more are completed. Verily, this association is doing in part to been our town.

Typhoid fever sailt ages in our town, but not to neh a groat extent as many are led to believe. Considering the number of cases since the disease tegan last November, we have gotten off lockity so far, there having only been three deaths. The board of health and the doctors are doing all in their power to alleviate the sufferings. health and the doctors are doing all in their power to alise ate the sufferings of the people and to prevent further epreading of the epidemic. The ordinance compelling the people to disinfect their premises under a penalty of five deliars is being enforced. There is another thing which should be prohibited, and that is this: There are many persons, who are neither close friends nor relatives, who make a practice of running in to see the sick, and while they only injure the patient by their appoyance, they no doubt spread the disease. This should be stopped at once. True, the sick must be looked after, but that does not require the assistance of the whole town. No one but the nurse should not require the assistance of the whole rown. No one but the nurse should be allowed in the sick room. It is hard, very bard, to be sick and not bave friends visit you when you would sometimes like to see them; but when it is for the good of not only the relative, but the whole community, it is time to call a halt. In munity, it is time to call a halt. In reading up the matter and speaking with a number of physicisms, we came to the conclusion that the dis-ease was contagious, and that even if it might not be, it would be advisable take these precautions so as to run no
